INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES

What They Say of Him

Thos Manufactured Dispatches

There was not any substantial reason for believing that the Democrats had won North Carolina The whole furor to that effect was raised by the lying telegrams of the Greeley press which were corrected as fast as the returns came in There are telegraph offices in but twenty six of the ninety one counties, and the claim that returns had been received from remote places indicating great Democratic gains was absurd from the first The New York Times correspondent thus telegraphed from Raleigh on the 3d inst, two days after election

Evidence accumulates that the announcement of the result of the North Carolina election which has been styled a Democratic Liberal or Conservative triumph according to the several needs of the adherents of the pie bald candidate for the Presidency was decidedly premature, and that the powder said to have been used by the Greeleyites in New York and Washington in celebrating the event has been a little worse than wasted Dispatches have been manufactured specially to mislead the country and prop the fortunes of Greeley by a bogus victory There was danger, of course that it would be speedily shown to be bogus but several days must elapse before that could be done, owing to the large territory of the State and the want of telegraphic facilities Meantime the whole nation would be deafened with the Greeley shouts of triumph the shaking cause would be strengthened by the hubbub, in the midst of which the truth would not be heard, and perhaps would never be by many It was doubtless with this hope that these reports were concocted, which might, indeed prove to be true to some extent but which when they were sent out, were based upon nothing better than reckless imagination Before Friday morning there was no vote entirely counted, save in the few large towns like Wilmington, Raleigh and Newbern and even these were not given in the dispatches Upon such a basis as this the Democratic majority was announced at various figures between 5,000 and 12 000 the latter being the more general favorite When the actual returns began to come in the mythical majority commenced to dwindle very rapidly

The Nondescript a Quarrel

The irrepressible conflict of opinion now existing between Senator Sumner and his new found friends the Democrats, is thus noted by the Springfield (Mass) Union

With regard to the Kuklux law, Mr Sumner finds a different ground of complaint against the President from that of his newfound friends the Democrats While they abuse him for executing it at all, he finds evidence of a want of heart-felt sympathy with the colored race in the fact that he did not execute it more vigorously With characteristic want of candor, Mr Sumner accuses the President of want of interest in his Civil Rights bill, when he can but know that he is accused of conspiracy to protract the session of Congress that this and kindred bills might pass, and the measure was defeated by Mr Sumner's new allies These, however, are little differences for the happy family to compose among themselves, now they are in sweet loving communion The fact that Mr Sumner went around among his brother Senators and conjured them to support his bill, and could not get a Democratic vote, is wholly ignored

The New York Evening Post says "Mr. Greeley has been the opponent of the Democratic party all his life, a bitter, uncompromising opponent Believing it to be all that for fifty years he has been in the habit of saying it was, and all good Republicans have agreed with him, they believe that all he has said is as true now as it ever was, and they believe that the success of that party is just as dangerous to the welfare of the country as at former periods, and that the facts in the case are in no wise changed because Greeley has turned his back upon every true word he ever uttered, for the sake of a Democratic nomination, a nomination, which if it is worth anything, is only valuable to Democrats as the last desperate effort to save the party from dissolution

Since his nomination, Horace Greeley has become a confirmed fop He wears a swallow tailed coat lined with white satin, with a sprig of mignonette pinned to the lappel, anoints his face with cold cream and has started a brigandish moustache It is reported that he secretly attends a dancing-school and wears boots three sizes smaller than usual

FRIDAY MORNING AUGUST 16 1872

Horse-Racing at Fairs

The season for our annual fairs is approaching and people are getting ready to attend Most of the preparation of course are for the horse races It has always been deplored by good friends of the farming interest that so much attention should be given to the horse race and so little to the more immediate interest of the farming profession It is all very well to encourage fast travelers but we want good work horses good roadsters, good ploughers and moreover there are many other matters aside from horseflesh, which as things be now are quite swallowed up in the care for the traveling character of the noble animal

But, as one of our best writers on agricultural economy remarks we do not know about abolishing these features of fairs altogether It is a severe course to take The farmer's life, as we generally find it, is one in which there is little of what the world calls amusement The pleasurable excitements which are so dear to the city people come never near him There is not even the presence of a grand duke or a prince royal in his post of life, to make a ripple on the even tenor of his way The annual exhibition is looked forward to as in some measure supplying these and any looker-on can testify that almost every one who visits a fair joins in enjoying the exciting contests of horses in the ring

How to make money is no doubt an admirable study, and the many lessons to be learned at an agricultural exhibition no doubt pay. But the holiday, the concourse of people, the physical and mental excitement in connection with the fair, all these go in to make up the full measure of profit so many people expect to derive from it Thus in spite of homilies against them we find the horse race, the big serpents, the fat woman, the double-headed babes, and similar monstrosities, always patronized, and in some places even games of chance of the vilest character, where the young are early initiated into gambling practices which ultimately become their ruin, abound The universality of the evils shows that some want of the kind is a natural one, and the only way to be saved is to replace these with others which are harmless in their tendencies, instead of banishing the whole

We note these thoughts just now in view of a crusade which is being agitated in Canada, by which no horseracing is to be allowed within five miles of any place of agricultural exhibition under the heaviest penalties If some other harmless excitements are to be introduced to replace those of the race course, we should hope for success in this movement but as it is we should look for the abolition of horseracing as in many cases the death blow to the success of many of these institutions We feel in this respect pretty much like Mr. Weller, who, when asked if he was not dissatisfied with his present situation replied that he preferred to know whether he had a chance of a better before answering it We are willing to say we do not like these horse races, but we want to know what better is to replace them before we vote for their abolition.

While the "Liberals" are raptured over their supposed victory in North Carolina they begin to picture to themselves rosy dreams of what they would do when they got back into power At a ratification at Lexington, Ky., on the 2d of August, Congressman Beck declared positively that Democrats supported Greeley, simply as a means of getting into power, and that upon his election a Democratic Congress would not only prevent him from doing harm, but compel him to acquiesce in such measures as they deemed necessary. General George B. Hodge spoke with even more boldness saying 'Looking back now upon what he once considered the [illegible] of the South he saw that the equal rights and sovereignty of the States would be restored, and that his own and of the lost cause have not died in vain, that this anticipated triumph would be the victory for which they fought.' He also said that the election of Greeley meant the restoration of John C 'Breckinridge and other chivalric sons of the South to their former positions of power and influence in the nation.

So says the Herald "The OREGONIAN is pleased to call our evidence of Grant's complicity in the gold panic of 'black Friday,' an 'abominable calumny' Such ranting scares nobody with whom we are acquainted Now take notice that it was not the OREGONIAN that called this accusation "black calumny," it was the present Democratic candidate for the Presidency who called it by that name The good and good Greeley is the author of this "ranting," as our neighbor is pleased to call it. But of course, no one, not even the Herald, believes any part of this story of "Grant's complicity" in the operations of "black Friday." That paper does its cause no good, and degrades itself by such accusations When it says it has no disposition to calumniate President Grant, no one even among its own partisans will believe it or give it credit for candor

More men in buckram The Democratic organ has information from an 'intelligent citizen of Douglas county that two hundred Republicans in that county have declared for Greeley' Couldn't give their names, now, could you? Couldn't give the names even of five of them? We have direct information from Douglas county, to the effect that not three persons who voted the Republican ticket in that county in June will vote for Greeley in November Two hundred, indeed From this example we learn how the shadowy legions of Greeley Republicans are made up in other States. The baseless fabric of a vision is not more delusive.

Gen Dix identifies the Greeley movement with the Tammany Ring The corrupt forces of Tammany, in the hope of recovering their power and getting a chance to transfer their system of stealing to Washington are all on the alert for Greeley The Greeley movement is a plank thrown out which promises to rescue and to give them a better chance than they had before If they could steal twenty millions at New York in a year they see no reason why they should not steal two hundred millions at Washington in a like space of time

According to the Herald Senator Kelly is entirely confident that Greeley will be elected No doubt he is and he will retain that confidence till six weeks or so after election when it will begin to dawn slowly on his mind that Greeley has been beaten, and he will wonder how it ever could have occurred

Inasmuch as the Herald seems to be extremely anxious for us to inform the public that it denies having manufactured its special dispatches concerning the North Carolina election we hereby convey to the public that information But after all it doesn't seem to be a matter of much moment who manufactured them for manufactured they were a devoted of truth

Eastern papers now come loaded with very severe remarks on the living telegrams of the Associated Press which deride the North Carolina election

Washington County

HILLSBORO, Aug 15

EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The citizens of Hillsboro and vicinity were considerably surprised this morning by being informed by the station agent at this place that he had received orders not to take any grain at the warehouses at Hillsboro to be forwarded by rail to Portland Quite a number of farmers were here to get sacks expecting to ship their grain on the cars and not a few maledictions were heaped on the heads of railroad officials for trying to force them to travel an unnecessary distance to get the benefits of the road Citizens of Hillsboro are left staring each other in the face asking the question, What is the matter What have we done now It can't be the want of land for depot purposes for Mr Simmons stands ready to give the railroad any reasonable amount of good prairie land, and as this town lies three miles from the town of Cornelius and can't possibly interfere with the railroad interests at that place, no one can divine the cause Will some one that is authorized come out and say just what the matter is, so that we can have an end of this child's play,—either fix things up or quit? Hillsboro suspects there are persons who indulge in the foolish pastime of carrying damaging reports, which are wholly false Citizens here have supposed that a short side track would be laid down at this place And now we are naturally somewhat anxious to know if we are to be a nation unto ourselves, or to have a railroad depot

The Cedar Creek Robbery

The following is from the Lewiston (Idaho) Signal It has features of brutality which are absolutely shocking

From Hull Rice we learn the following account of the capture of the Chinamen who broke open Caplice & Smith's safe and robbed it of $4,000, on the night of July 1st It seems that the Chinamen got lost in trying to find the Mullan road and came to Missoula river some distance below the ferry where they found some Indians of whom they inquired the direction to Spokan The Indians had been informed of the robbery and were on the lookout for the Chinamen. They told them which course to take and also went to the ferry and posted Ed Warren, who immediately started, in company with two others after the robbers They succeeded in overhauling them in the night and shooting one of them in the shoulder, but did not capture them The Chinamen traveled on the main road only by night which bewildered those in pursuit and caused a difficult hunt They could only track them a part of the time by the blood of the wounded Chinaman When within about thirty miles of the Missoula they came upon them while they were drying their clothes The Chinamen all being naked ran and left their clothes behind Warren and party instituted a search among them and found $4 100—a hundred dollars more than was claimed to have been taken According to the story told by the party on their return to Cedar creek the Chinamen got away from them but the following account of the finding of dead bodies, leaves the impression that Warren and party made good Chinamen of them before they returned to Cedar

On Rice's return from Montana he and his men were looking for horses which they lost while going to that place last spring They came to the spot described as being the place where the money was recovered. There they found a pair of drawers, and, on looking around, discovered a number of dead Chinamen, each rolled up in a blanket and all piled in a heap among some logs They did not examine very closely to find out how they came to their death, but satisfied themselves that they were the ones who committed the robbery and that they would molest no one hereafter

An Americian Item Done in French

[Translated from the Figaro Paris, June 23]

It is known that the railroad from San Francisco to New York passes through the reservations of several tribes of Indians who invariably regard the locomotives as terrible monsters by the Manitou to exterminate the red man

Several times already the Indians have attempted to throw the trains off the track In these enterprises they were led by one of the fiercest of their chiefs, a Cherokee named Nana and surnamed Mocking Bird All their attempts having failed, Nana resolved to change his tactics

Accordingly on the 2d of June last, he concealed himself near the railroad and with extraordinary activity bounded upon the foot board of train No 67 from San Francisco to New York He then slipped along the train until he reached the locomotive, where he killed the fireman with a blow of his tomahawk, stabbing the engineer with his knife, and after scalping them, jumped on the tender brandishing the scalps and howling out a savage war song

The settlers along the line became terrified as they saw the train, which now dashed along at a fearful speed, driven by the ferocious engineer The passengers all cried out for help The situation was extremely perilous in fact, they were running into the jaws of death

Finally an officer of the navy, Henry Pierce determined to sacrifice himself to save his fellow passengers Armed with a large dirk knife he ran along the foot-board of the train, and jumped upon the engine The chief uttered a war cry and brandished his tomahawk, and a hand to hand struggle was commenced over the bodies of the engineer and the fireman

The passengers put their heads out of the windows, and with an anxiety that may easily be imagined, tried to see the fight In about a minute Pierce fell mortally wounded under Mocking Bird a terrible blows, who, in the twinkling of an eye scalped him But while he was triumphantly waving the scalp of his victim in the air Pierce, who was still living, had sufficient strength to jump up and lunge his knife in the Indian's breast, killing him instantly He then crawled to the valve handle shut off the steam and the train stopped

The passengers ran to the assistance of this brave officer but it was too late, he died two hours afterwards

Very significant and most important is the opinion of Bismarck in regard to the Presidential election, which the great restorer of German unity causes to be printed as a special editorial in his personal organ, the Berlin Provincial Correspondence He says

It is with great regret that we see some of the politicians and journals of the United States unconscientious enough as to stir up the German voters of that Republic against General Grant on account of his position during the German Franco war We have repeatedly stated and do so here again that this Government has not been able to find any fault with the course pursued toward our country by General Grant during the war on the contrary he has given us many and valuable proofs of his real sympathy for our cause

The Cleveland Leader has the following gratuitous advice

If a person drops on the street and you think he has been sun struck kick him three or four times with all your strength If that don't revive him fall back and give him air If it does revive him you will be apt to fall back without any instructions from us

"My dear, said a husband to his wife, do you think that a stove-pipe hat is unbecoming to me? 'It is, decidedly, when it is too much stove, replied the wife

OREGON

Walter Jackson has sold his shares in the Salem Woolen Factory to J Hoyt and withdraws from the Company and the Secretaryship

Baker City shows greater signs of life and activity than any town in Eastern Oregon It is the center of a large mining country which as yet is scarcely developed Four or five stages run tri-weekly to the principal camps Sparta (Imnaha) Granite, etc

Thirty tons of iron arrived at Cape Foulweather per steamer Shubrick to be used in the construction of the new light house Work on it has been suspended for one month past for want of material The light house when finished will be one of the largest strength and durability

The State Teachers Institute was in session at Eugene in the early part of the week Among those in attendance were Rev Dr Atkinson and T L Eliot of Portland Rev Mr Campbell of Monmouth and Hon J Q Thornton of Salem Rev Mr Eliot delivered an address Tuesday evening

A son of Marcus King of Clackamas was missing a cow on Monday last, and annoyed at the switching off the flies with her tail tied it fast to his brother a nine year old child The cow while thus tied, was frightened by a passing train and ran dragging the boy a quarter of a mile His recovery is doubtful

John Day Valley above Canyon City from Dixie Creek presents a beautiful appearance from Canyon City towards the Columbia it tapers to a fine point The orchard of Fisk & Co, near Canyon City is one of the finest and best cultivated in the State It contains five thousand trees of assorted varieties, and refreshing to look upon The most prominent features of this region are unlimited quantities of bunch grass—large herds of cattle and rugged mountains

The Statesman of Thursday has this Mansfield, the man that has been lying dangerously ill at the Commercial Hotel from the effect of drugs or poison has become insane Yesterday while attempting to get him on board the train for Milwaukie he became perfectly frantic with rage He said he had paid $150 000 to stop in Salem a year and that he had been here but six months also insisting that he would not go to New York under any consideration He will be examined by physicians at an early day on the charge of insanity Mansfield was captain of a company during the late war, and is certain that they will be revenged

THE TERRITORIES

The works for supplying Olympia with water will be completed in about two months The water is conveyed from the falls of the Deschutes two and a half miles from Olympia

Montana grasshoppers are more ravenous than usual this season They eat wagon tires and have been known to tackle a mule in the ribs until he kicked, and devour his shoes while his feet were in the air

POLITICAL NOTES

The Republican gains in North Carolina comes chiefly from the white vote in the western part of the State

Senator Tipton had three brothers in law, a nephew and a son appointed to office, and tried to have another son appointed to a valuable consulship He is opposed to nepotism and for that reason will not vote for Grant

The Louisville Convention means All over the country there are responses to the call for it It will soon dawn upon the minds of those who have tried to sell the Democratic party to Greeley that they can't deliver the goods

The London Saturday Review is very disrespectful to Mr Sumner It speaks of that great speech against the President as an enlarged copy of a school boy's theme The accusations against General Grant are put in pompous phrases interspersed with real and imaginary examples from history' And the Saturday Review is actually guilty of sneering at Mr Sumner's rhetoric for in one place it speaks of his 'barbarous language, and in another character izes the whole speech as 'timid twaddle"

The Voersiche Zeitung, of Berlin, organ of the liberal or Bismarck party, in an article on American politics, says. We are at loss to know how any German American can allow himself to be misled by the sophistries by which unscrupulous men try to make the candidature of Horace Greeley palatable to our countrymen in the United States No! They cannot and will not support him—an incarnation of inconsistencies of crude theories, of exploded notions on public economies, a weathercock always and never consistent Thank God' every mail from America brings us assurances that the number of German Americans who will go for Greeley is very limited

'Phelim O'Flaherty,' who writes poetry in the Celtic vernacular for a Cleveland paper, dashes off glowing lines like the annexed

What means this rant,
This whine and cant
Of those who want
To beat General Grant?
Just lave his enemies
Rave and rant
Beat Grant they can't
They can't beat Grant

EXPLODED POLITICAL HUMBUGS —Senator Schurz will pardon us for the suggestion that his speech displays a little too much personal bitterness toward the President to be as effective as it might otherwise have been No person can read it without becoming impressed with the idea that his present position is taken, not that he hates Greeley less, but that he hates Grant more The arraignment of the Administration is a powerful and damaging one, no doubt, but its force is frittered away by allusions to the French Arms affair the Robeson investigation, the New York Custom House frauds and other exploded political humbugs The Custom House abuses exposed before the Investigating Committee were such as have existed through every Administration for the last twenty or thirty years, and were probably kept more carefully from the knowledge of the President than from the knowledge of any other person in the country All these investigations grew out of the personal enmity of Sumner, Schurz and other restless spirits, to Grant, and did not result in damaging the President The purest Administration that ever existed might be subject to similar charges and similar inquiries We should not be surprised in the event of Greeley's election to find half a dozen such investigating committees called for before he had been two years in office Agitation of this description will always go on in a Government where restless and revolutionary spirits have it in their power to raise a tempest in a teapot, whenever their peculiar views are disregarded and their individual importance is overlooked —From the N Y Herald's Editorial on Schurz's Speech

THE GERMAN VOTE —Nothing can be more certain than that a majority of the German vote of New York city will not be cast for the Cincinnati Baltimore ticket The German press of the city is unanimously against Greeley and Brown, with the exception of the New York Journal which in 1871 defended Tweed and the ring to the end and which has not recovered the circulation and the influence which it lost at that time The Staats Zeitung the organ of the great mass of the German population is as strenuous in its denunciations of the Greeley ticket as ever The Demokrat, the new Republican Oestliche Post the widely circulated Criminal Zeitung and the Abend Zeitung are all earnest y advocating the election of Grant and Wilson Never before, in the political history of this city, had a Democratic Presidential ticket so many formidable adversaries in the German Press of New York as the one nominated at Cincinnati and Baltimore The consequences of this state of affairs have already become quite apparent The German ward and district clubs have never been in a more flourishing condition never had more accessions from the Democratic ranks and never held larger and more enthusiastic meetings than at the present time while the German Liberal Republican Clubs show but little activity and vitality —N Y Evening Post

A man enjoying the euphonious name of Pigg married a lady named Young A child was born to them and a rich uncle of the young one who like Gilpin loves a timely joke promised to heavily endow the boy if the parents would christen him with the maternal name The fond but thrifty parents consented and the youth will hereafter be known to his friends as Young Pigg

Late reports from the Isthmus of Suez are very favorable to that route The command er of the U S Steamer Iris reports the canal to be 24 feet deep 72 feet in width have no difficulty in passing through with ease and safety that the sands of the desert do not blow into the canal and that it is easily kept in order by two dredges passing through it three times daily The number of passengers passing through the report was all out and had reached a very large proportion of the Indian travel now via Suez, and the old Cape route will not fall off much One of these days the route via Suez will be a very strong competitor to that through the Suez canal especially for goods of a perishable character and these are sure to be placed promptly on the market because of their superior blends.

An Indiana editor begs leave to say a few minutes to write a notable letter to a journal in which he plaintively remarks We are the recipient of half a dozen of those two watermelons and a little of your rubber from one of our subscribers The gifts were all of the shadows of a watery and yellow nature We are glad some one remembers us in the midst of our labors and cares and feels that remembrance in so delicate a manner We did not enjoy the melons nearly as much and so long as the fragrance of the former and the gripes of the latter hunger about us we shall hold the kind donor in affectionate remembrance These little acts inspire us to renewed exertions but our subscription price will remain the same

Japan It has been reported will discontinue its practice of using the foreign and it adapted Chinese characters which have hitherto been its only alphabet for writing Japanese words If this is to be done, there will be a noble opportunity for promoting at once civilization and philology., by the right selection of a new alphabet If the new alphabet could be the Roman one, so nearly universal in Europe adjusted to the Japanese sounds on the wise, practical basis of matching each sign and its sound in an invariable manner it would be a great advance in the solid unity of the Asiatic and European peoples

A Cincinnati bridegroom fainted away during the ceremony last week and was only revived after being vigorously fanned by the officiating clergyman's robe He said he never felt so but twice before—once when he was blown up at Fort Hell in front of Petersburg and again when he had the hell clerk I gave him a comfortable box without going in

A woman stopped a railroad train in Indiana recently and asked the conductor to run back and get a bottle of milk which her baby had dropped out of the window He soured on her as soon as he saw the cream of the joke and made the blood of the other passengers curdle by the way he swore

A negro held a cow while a cross eyed man was to knock her on the head with his axe The negro observing the man's eyes in some fear inquired You gwine to hit what you look' Yes 'Den said Cuffee hold de cow yourself

CITY.

ON TR —The case of Jam Barclay ra Captain on deck was in progress yesterday in the U S ates Circuit Court This s quite an important case and has attracted much deserved attention As near as we have been able to ascer tain the f y of the case is as follows Bar clay some ago introduced liquor at Fort Klamath among the men of the post which resulted in drunkenness and mutiny among the soldiers Captain Gondan who had charge of the post at that time arrested Barclay and confined him in the guard house for thirteen days The suit is brought by Barclay for the recovery of damages for what is alleged to be false imprisonment

CHURCH AT HILLSBORO —A meeting was held at Hillsboro on Saturday and Sunday last Under the labors of the new pastor Rev J Hoberg the new church has been completed and presents a handsome appearance It is a very neat church about 60x80 with cupola, bell two chandeliers and is well seated throughout A platform with a table constitutes the pulpit The building is found to possess very excellent acoustic properties Arrangements are being made by which the entire expense is provided for and also for the salary of the pastor and Presiding Elder for the present year

BEAR FIGHT —A rather interesting fight took place a few days ago between the Sitka bear which belongs to Captain Mountain, and another brute brought down from some point up the valley The Siwash chap rather came out first best in the tussel He bit his antagonist through the small of the back several times which has placed him hors de combat ever since The Sitka was a plucky fellow and having once planted his incisors in the flesh of his foe it required three men besides the dog Sailor to get him off It is thought the wounded animal is so seriously injured that he will not recover

PROTECTIVE SOCIETY —Last Wednesday evening a number of the journeyman bricklayers of the city held a preliminary meeting to take steps toward the organization of a protective society for the object of mutual protection On last evening an adjourned meeting was held and permanent organization effected A Constitution and a number of By Laws were adopted The following officers were also chosen President Henry Jones, Vice President, Thomas Rhodes Secretary, J W Sloan, Treasurer, J Carney An other meeting of the Society will be held on next Thursday evening

DESTITUTE —We learn that a widow and seven children residing at the corner of F and Park streets who are in very destitute circumstances Yesterday the family's distressing condition came to the knowledge of a few persons who generously responded to the call of charity, and furnished both food and clothing The condition of this unfortunate family should be seen to at once, and their urgent wants supplied To provide for the fatherless and widow is a sacred injunction too binding to be long disregarded by this benevolent community

NEW LOT —Reminiscences of Travel from 1865 to 1867 and also a graphic description of Seven Days battle before Richmond and a History of Mormon Life is the title of a pamphlet book containing 136 pages which is being handled by a Mrs Frazier The lady is author of the work She was with the army nurse for several years and is therefore enabled to write understandingly of what she saw and heard

ASSESSMENT RETURNS —We have been informed by Mr Dolan that the time is drawing rapidly a close when assessment returns can be received Only a few days more remain All persons are requested to hand them in at the earliest convenience, as it will obviate much trouble and time To-day and to morrow he will be in his office at the Court House expressly to receive the statements of assessable property which may be handed in

BEAUTIFUL PETS —At the Proserpina of Mr Pfunder can be seen two beautiful and interesting pets in the form of two small fawns These tiny and shapely little creatures are but a few months old and their bodies are variegated with a great number of white spots so common to these animals when young They are so gentle that any one can approach near enough to fondle them

SECOND STREET —Second street, East Portland, will soon be finished Since the last break, caused by the sinking of the bank some twenty feet, was repaired, work has been pushed forward rapidly and with astonishing results The grade now is even with the bridge, and all that will be required to complete the job will be the smoothing off and widening out of the bank It will be finished in a week's time at the farthest So says the Era

ENTERTAINMENT —A literary and musical entertainment will be given at Lee's Chapel on Wednesday evening, August 28th On the occasion Stephen Maybell Esq, has consented to recite some of his original poems and Professor George P Newell will furnish some excellent music on the piano The other exercises will consist of charades dialogues declamations vocal and instrumental music Admission, 50 cents

SURVEYING —Mr Blair who has the superintendency of the surveys for the new bridge across the river at this city was engaged yesterday in ascertaining the elevation of a number of streets above the water at the lowest stage To day he will ascertain the exact width of the river from bank to bank at several points The company expect to commence active operations very shortly

ROUGH SAILING —Yesterday the usually quiet Willamette was very boisterous in consequence of the high winds The ferryboat put the cable to a severe test, several times from the force of the gale Several little crafts were out scudding before the wind Some distance down the river one of them capsized The two persons on board, after a thorough ducking, escaped to the land

COMPLETED —The Era says that the grading and planking on I street, East Portland, has at last been completed The amount of work done on this street was immense, and east property holders a very large sum of money It is now one of the finest streets in the city and reflects much credit upon the contractors who had the work in charge

DISMISSED —It is stated by a cotemporary that Dr Bradford, a contracting surgeon in the United States Army, who was ordered to Fort Vancouver a short time ago has since been dismissed from the service and his contract annulled by Major General Canby The Doctor and his family went to San Francisco on the steamer Ajax a week ago

FOR SALE —Major M P Berry, the newly appointed Indian Agent for the Fort Hood Reservation left yesterday for Salem He will probably not leave the State until after the Presidential election His commission will soon arrive from the East, but he will not enter upon his duties until after the first of November

DISORDERLY —A female was arrested last evening on the ferry boat for obscene language and creating a disturbance On the way to jail she rendered night hideous with her cries. Too much diluted benzine was what was the matter

BOUND OVER —The examination of Captain Aborn, master of the Manila was continued before U S Commissioner Wilcox yesterday morning After a hearing the defendant was held to answer in the sum of $1 500

JEFFERSON STREET —This street is being planked from Front toward the city limits The planks have already been placed down between Front and First streets and the work is being pushed vigorously

TIME EXTENDED —At the pea meeting held yesterday by the Board of Education Commissioner the time for the leave of absence granted J F Wiley was extended for ten days longer

TERM COMMENCES —The fall term of Vancouver Seminary under the principalship of Prof E D Curtis will commence on the 2d of next month

EQUALIZATION BOARD —The Equalization Board for the examination of the assessment roll of 1872 will be held on the 28th inst

COUNTY COURT —Court will convene on Saturday next at one o'clock P M for the transaction of County business

MINING SWINDLE EXPLAINED

PORTLAND, August 14 1872

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

A communication appeared in the Sunday issue of the Oregonian and was copied into the journals of this section relating to the history of a mining swindle in which a party of Easterners gentlemen are pictured as gudgeons caught in a net by one Robeson a tenth rate sharper As the statement made is calculated to produce a wrong impression I ask a small space in your valuable columns to state but the facts This Robeson—who is well known in Idaho and California—did raise a company of men in Boston for the purpose of taking possession of a mine in Idaho The company was raised and organized in a business like manner and upon the face of the papers in the case could look more one The letter of the manner in which Robeson conducted himself and the management of the Indian war club and all Those company for all put into a common fund each the sum of $50 making in the aggregate about $12 000 which sum was provided in the by-laws of two responsible men—merchants of Boston—duly elected as trustees to hold the same for necessary expenses and for the support of Robeson who was without means Upon positive proof of the existence of the mine the balance remaining in the hands of the trustees was to be paid to Robeson As will be seen Robeson did not get the $12 000 Before leaving Boston many of the company became convinced that the whole thing was a swindle and that Robeson filled in an attempt to make short sands was watching his chance to escape Still there was no proof and as we had purchased sundry articles of equipment and arranged our business to be gone three or four months we concluded to move forward and if necessary make a pleasure excursion or turn up something in the land of which we had heard so much

We gave Robeson every opportunity to escape hoping he would leave us—if he so desired—as soon as possible and upon the departure of the boat for Portland he failed to put in an appearance and was not supposed to be stowed away about the boat as is stated One man here left us and departed for home having no time to spare while the rest sailed After visiting the city of Portland and the surrounding country, several more returned and the balance went up Snake river to Palouse Landing where a committee had horses in charge for such as chose to go further Some returned but the major ty mounted the gay and festive Cayuse ponies and took a hand at the chances with the danger of a broken neck much greater than making mill ions of gold We went to fish hunt and to see the country and we accomplished the object of the expedition

And now one word in regard to Robeson He is a man about 50 years of age tall, with a slight stoop, rather thin, light eyes and lame apparently sickly and weak with none of the appearance of the professional sharper—though he seems to be an old hand at games of this kind as we have found in our travels about the country quite a number of residents who informed us that they represented sundry parties brought here with the same end in view One started from Minnesota Some were gathered together in that sharpest of places—Wall street New York—and within three years some five specimens of rich left San Francisco upon the same errand—the victims in the latter city being men who know quartz and are not easily caught in nets And now, on behalf of a large portion of our company, I desire to express my thanks for the courtesy and attention received at the hands of the citizens of the great Northwest and more especially the city of Portland where we have made many true friends not least among whom may be ranked our worthy hosts of the Metropolis, who are in the Last what are called good SQUARE MEN

Some of us came to stay in the country, of which we have all without except on formed a very favorable impression, and none of us are unable to leave on account of shortness of funds I think this statement is due us and will thank you to publish the same

Rev J T. Wolfe, Presiding Elder of the Umpqua District, has been in this office, and seems in good health and spirits He reports entire harmony in his work and a fair measure of prosperity Some three new circuits will have to be organized in the district

There will be a sociable and religious reunion at the Hall street M E Church on Friday evening, August 23d A part of the programme will be the presentation of the medal to the Sabbath school scholar who brought the greatest number of new and regular attendants to the school

On last Sabbath the children, assisted by the older members of the Ames Chapel Sunday School, gave an instructive missionary concert to an appreciative and delighted audience The school, consisting of forty members has access to a library worth $500, and the friends there are determined to encourage in the children a habit of Christian study, speaking and singing on the Sabbath day

Medicinal Poisons on the Rack

The patriarchs took to mercury no bismuth, no hydriodide of potassium no iodine no strychnia no quinine Happy old gentlemen they did not even know of the existence of these specifics and yet they lived until it seemed that Death had forgotten them Their medicines were herbs and roots They have left this fact on record and the world seems to be now taking note of it and returning to the first principles of medication Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and most powerful vegetable restorative of the day is one the most popular ... of all persons who only a few years ago believed implicitly in all the poisons which figure in the pharmacopia now pronounce this palatable tonic and alterative an all sufficient remedy for dyspepsia nervous debility constipation bilious complaints headache intermittent fevers and all the ordinary disturbances of the stomach liver bowels ... brain The time is not far distant when most of the powerful and virulent drugs now so recklessly administered by practitioners of the healing art will be thrown aside and that mighty and all potent agent Hostetter's Stomach Bitters substituted in its stead Already many intelligent physicians have ready put the lancet in preparations to do away with bleeding and mercurializing and substitute some other remedy Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is as safe as it is excellent Does not irritate nor debilitate like calomel every ingredient entering into its composition being purely vegetable Its reputation is already established and it has been for many years the favorite resort of the invalid It has been steadily increasing its hold upon the public confidence and now takes rank of all proprietary advertised medicines manufactured for the counter

This

The Forty Acre Farm.

I'm thinkin', of neighbor Jones' that man of stalwart size—
His lives in peace and plenty on a forty acre farm
While men are all around us with hands and hearts to save
Who own two hundred acres and still are want'g more

His is a pretty little farm, a pretty little house
He has a loving wife within as quiet as a mouse
His children play around the door—their father's life to charm—
Looking as neat and tidy as the tidy little farm

No weeds are in the corn-fields nor thistles in the rye
The horses show good keeping by their fine and glossy coats;
The cows within the meadow seeing neath the beech en shade
Learn all their gentle manners of the gentle milking maid

Within the fields—on Saturday—the hay's all cut and grain
To be gathered on the morrow to fear it comes a rain
He keeps the Sabbath holy—has church ways—
And plenty fills his barn and bin at the harvest days

He never has a law suit to take him to the town
For the very simple reason there are no men here down
The bar room in the village does not have within a dozen
I can always find my neighbor on his forty acre farm

His acres are so very few he plows them very deep
'Tis his own hands that turn the sod—'tis his own hand's that reap
He has a place for everything and things are in their places;
The sunshine smiles upon his fields contentment on his face

May we not learn a lesson wife from prudent neighbor Jones

REPORTED DISCOVERY OF THE NATHAN MURDERER—HIS SKELETON FOUND IN A KENTUCKY CAVE—WRITTEN CONFESSION OF THE CRIME

[Correspondence of the Cincinnati Enquirer.]

AURORA (Ind.), July 16

The people of this city are laboring under intense excitement, occasioned by the discovery of a large cave and the remains of three persons—two miles below this city, on the Kentucky shore. The locality known as Split Rock—familiar to old river men as Kirby's Rock—two miles below here in Boone county, Kentucky is a wild, romantic place, consisting of a high cleft of rocks, piled and tumbled about promiscuously as if by some mighty convulsion of nature in ages past. A dense growth of foliage borders the north side of this rocky prominence. Early this morning three boys crossed over into Kentucky for the purpose of gathering blackberries. At 10 o'clock they returned in an excited state, and reported that they had found a cave at Split Rock herstofore unknown. They and their parents and several others, out of curiosity, started for the place. Two or three small caverns beneath some of the rocks had been known there for years and nothing beyond something like this was expected by the party. Arriving at the ledge of rocks, the boys made their way through the dense thicket of vines and bushes, followed by the men. A tree has been uprooted by the storm which recently passed over this neighborhood, tearing up the earth and displacing the entrance of the cave. Lamps were procured at a farm house near by and the party commenced the exploration. In the meantime some of the company returned to Aurora, and soon scores of people were hurrying to the place. A skiff containing Drs. Battes and Bond, C. F. Cobb, Mayor Wade and the writer was among the earliest at the place, and the party proceeded to make a thorough examination of the premises. The party who had first went in returned, giving a wonderful report of the dimensions of the cave and startling the little company by the report of the discovery of the remains of three human beings, one of which, from many good evidences, is supposed to be

THE MURDERER OF BENJAMIN NATHAN.

The entrance of the cave faces directly west, [illegible] south of a mile from the [illegible] and is [illegible] high and wide. [illegible] the mouth of the cave, and [illegible] the same material. Both sides and roof are rough and irregular in form, [illegible] rocks jutting out in all directions. [illegible] feet from the mouth the [illegible] roadway for two or three feet. The [illegible] had excavated thus far when they fell [illegible] as the pale light of the [illegible] and the skeleton of a man, covered [illegible] with the clothes it had worn [illegible] alive. The gaze is directed of a [illegible] black wool coat, a mixed gray pair of [illegible] and a vest of apparently the same material, and a [illegible] hat. The physicians gave it as their opinion that the body had lain there for a year [illegible]. In one of the pockets [illegible] of which was written in pencil, all [illegible] the following

CONFESSION.

I have [illegible] a hiding place from man, but God's eye [illegible] me even here. I murdered [illegible] Nathan, and an dying now God [illegible] me, and have mercy on my soul! I die by my own hand.

ANTONIO HARPE.

In another place was found written the words, "Oh, my mother!" Can this be the murderer of Benjamin Nathan? Some believe it is, while others are inclined to think it is but the ghost of a crazy man. Nearly two years ago there was remembered to have been in the locality of the cave an unknown appearing man, whose dress corresponded with that found on the skeleton. After a time he suddenly disappeared. Many believe the unknown man and skeleton are [illegible]

THE FORCE OF POLICE OF NEW YORK CITY has been [illegible] of the event. The authorities of Aurora have taken charge of the [illegible] and buried the skeleton in a vault at River View Cemetery, near the city. The [illegible] of the skeleton was found gradually [illegible] and moisture in height, and the light of half a dozen lamps does not show the end. Near the mouth the floor or bottom fell to be of "earth, but there it is of rock. Subsequent investigations failed to discover any variety of stone or rock composing the sides of the cave to be other than [illegible], except here and there a deposit of iron ore. The floor dips and rises at intervals in the form of long waves. At different points the roof is scooped and hollowed out corresponding with the undulations of the floor, and at [illegible] it is even and regular. We pick our way into this new subterraneous wonder with [illegible], over on the lookout for [illegible] and pits, of which, however, we found but one of any dimensions. Numerous side caverns lead off at intervals, but so far as explored none extend beyond a distance of a [illegible]. At a distance of perhaps two hundred feet from the entrance, the cave [illegible] with it, turning abruptly to the left. So far we have been leading directly down the river, but this turn takes us directly [illegible] the river and into the hills which lie back of this point. Beyond this the rocks forming the side draw gradually together, narrowing the cave as it proceeds. About [illegible] feet [illegible] the narrow point the room is [illegible] down until a man's body is only admitted [illegible]. At this point the roof is about [illegible] five feet above our heads. This contracted [illegible] about thirty feet, and the hall [illegible] considerably wider. Twenty feet from the [illegible] of the narrow passage the [illegible] at least forty feet wide and half as high. In this room, which is estimated to be

we hear the murmur of running water. A short search in the uncertain light discovers a little stream, no larger than a man's finger, winding in serpentine curves along the left of the room. We trace it up and find its source. It bursts out of the wall about three feet from the floor, and, running down in a sheet over the side, insinuates itself into a well worn channel and hurries on for perhaps a distance of eighty feet, where it disappears in a small crevice in the rock. The bed through which this little stream runs is chiseled out and polished smooth as glass. At places it is worn down about a foot, while at others it is only two inches. This room is not excelled in grandeur by any in the great Mammoth Cave of Edmonson county. The sides are rough and jagged and are covered with a dark-colored incrustation of iron and manganese. Interspersed with this are shining crystals of gypsum, and the effect is grand and beautiful. The ceiling, which is rather concave, is pictured in the same tasteful manner and one gaze upon it in wonder and admiration. Hanging pendent from the ceiling and from the protruding rocks in the walls are beautiful stalactites that have doubtless been ages in forming. Here we found pillars reaching from the floor to the ceiling, and stars, of [illegible] feet. Mammoth Cave has them thirty feet in height. By the light of our thicker lamps we continue our examinations, meeting with nature's greatest handiwork at every turn.

BEING SCATTERED

are scattered here and there showing that the cave was known to early pioneers. It was doubtless used by the Indians as numerous arrow heads and stones bearing the rude carving of their tribes have been picked up. A kind of tomahawk carved out of the soft rock was found near the entrance of the cave by Dr. G. Sutton. It is a curiously modelled affair and has rude characters scratched upon the side. The party continued its explorations over meeting with something that filled them with awe and wonder. No actual measurement has been made, but it is believed the cave is two miles in length. It abounds in immense chambers and has numerous caverns starting out at different points. The pit discovered is about midway in and the top is perhaps eight feet in diameter. Its sides so far as seen, are rough and irregular. Water can be heard within it. A paper lighted and thrown down was extinguished about twenty feet from the top. A stone dropped down gave back hollow and sepulchral sounds and it was thought to have dropped at least forty feet before striking the bottom. In one of the small caverns were found two of the skeletons above spoken of. How came they there? Many are the conjectures indulged in. The general belief is that they are the remains of the who wounded and pursued by the Indians, secreted themselves and perished. This memorable massacre took place in the year 1781. A company of Virginia soldiers under command of Colonel Septimus Laughery, were crossing down in a boat to join a command at Louisville when they were decoyed ashore here by the Indians, and all were killed by the treacherous savages. At this time a stream of excited people are passing in and out of this newly discovered realm of darkness, and further discoveries will doubtless be made.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

THURSDAY EVENING August 1 18 2

Gold in New York to-day 115 ¾

Portland Legal Tender rates, 80½c buying; 81½c selling.

Trade is reported very quiet. There has been no activity in the sale of Agricultural Implements the season being too far advanced. During the past week a number of wagons have been sold. There is no tendency towards weakness in hardware but the market is dull the most of the summer trade being over and the fall traffic not yet fairly inaugurated. Pig Iron—Glengarnock—is quoted in Portland at $30 per ton. Lehigh coal $42. Cumberland $50. English $15@$20.

No changes to note in the quotations of woolen goods, oils, paints, drugs, groceries, etc. etc.

A few changes have taken place in the prices of garden vegetables, as will be observed by a reference to the Retail Family Market report.

The vessels which have been announced as on the way to this port, have been out the following number of days: Zouave, from New York 126; Loch Dee, from Liverpool, 100; Electra, Newport Wales 1 5; Navigator, Middlesboro 132; Siam, Middlesboro 80; Victoria, Middlesboro, 101; Aeppa, Shields 110; Leaping Water, New Castle England 143; Edward James, Hongkong 53.

The C C Leary is announced by the San Francisco Guide as being on the way from Hongkong. According to that paper she has been out 9 days which must certainly be a mistake.

The bark Edward James crossed the bar yesterday morning from Hong Kong with 320 passengers. She was passed to day by the Dixie Thompson and will probably arrive to morrow.

Reports from England show that the wheat crop is middling, the barley crop poor and the yield of oats, beans and potatoes large. The new crop of wheat will not come into market until the middle of August, and it is [illegible] that in the meantime the country will receive [illegible] quantities of wheat and flour. The report from [illegible], whence [illegible] is expected to draw its chief supply, is that the crops are scarcely up to the average. In Hungary and Germany the yield will be fully up to that of former years, while in Southern and Western Europe there will be a deficiency. In the United States there are conflicting reports as to the crops, but on the whole a fair yield is expected.

We present the following statistics of imports and exports at this port during the fis al year ending June 30, 1872, and also for the month of July 1872. It will be borne in mind that these are statistics of direct foreign trade only.

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—In this article there is a dead lock between buyers and farmers. The latter decline to sell at the prices offered by the milling companies, but hold the price above what the market will bear. Very little is offering. Small quantities are ruling at retail prices at $1 per bushel. No material changes can be expected until the new crop is thrown on the market. Latest advices from Liverpool indicate a weaker market again, owing to the state of the weather. The prices asked for wheat here, and the ruling quotations abroad will not warrant shipments for the present.

WOOL—Of this article there is none whatever offering at any price.

FLOUR—Quotations unchanged. Market steady but quite inactive at present. The local demand is limited and but few orders coming from abroad. Several small lots will be sent to the Sound on the steamer California which will sail on Sunday.

HIDES—Since the last quotations, dry hides have slightly fallen and are now 14 and at 14@17½c ₱ lb. Salt rate from 7@8 cents. The prices asked for quality from [illegible] are 1 to [illegible] at 25 cents a piece, and deer skins at [illegible] cents.

OATS—During the last week oats—both of the old and new crop—are coming in more freely. A slight upward tendency has taken place and the article is buying at 1½@1¾c ₱ lb. As yet, however the market has not fairly opened.

POTATOES—Supply large; average price 1c ₱ lb.

DRIED FRUITS—Apples [illegible] plums, prunes 14@18c.

BUTTER—Fancy dairy would command 37½c and per shape even 40c. Common and inferior is in large supply and quoted at 17@18c according to quality.

POULTRY—Good average lots quotable at $ 50@6 ₱ dozen.

CATTLE—Beeves, 5@8c ₱ lb as to quality. Sheep but few are paying $3@$ 4 a head.

BACON—Extra sides 14@14½c. Hams 1 @18c ₱ lb. Very little of either in market.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION HELD AT PHILADELPHIA.

The Republican Party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the anniversary of the day when the Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled, declared that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States, and that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved, do make and declare the following platform of principles, and pledge themselves to the country for the faithful performance of the same, so far as each pledge is to be carried out by the executive and legislative departments of the government:

1. The work of reconstruction having been fully accomplished by the admission of the last Southern State entitled to representation, and the question of the political status of the several States lately in rebellion, with their relation to the general government, having been finally adjusted by the almost unanimous action of the people and the States, during the past year, no further delay should be permitted to the complete restoration of fraternal relations among all the people, and the early obliteration of the marks of sectional animosity and discord.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all the rights and privileges of citizenship should be established and efficiently maintained throughout the United States by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither the States nor the nation should admit any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right in principle, and they sprang from the necessities of the situation, which demanded security for the rights of freedom, which had been wrested from a large class of our people, and placed in the hands of former masters, who used them to perpetuate their power. Hence, these amendments are integral parts of the work of reconstruction, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, and the enforcement of each and every one of their provisions should be secured by the same careful watchfulness that procured their adoption; and we hold that any violation of either of them, in any State, will be a just cause for the exercise of the power conferred upon Congress to secure to the citizens of such State their rights under the Constitution.

4. The National Government is solemnly committed to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere and sympathizing with all people who strive for or enjoy liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the appointment of subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the present system by a law which shall establish such regulations as will secure honesty, efficiency and fidelity in every department of the public service, and which shall provide for the selection of officers for their fitness to perform the duties of the position to which they are appointed, and for the tenure of office, and make such provisions for the compensation of clerks as will remove temptation from politicians to use their official power for the collection of funds for party purposes, and we regard the principle of competitive examinations, under such conditions as will secure honesty, capacity and fidelity in the public service, as the most effective means of reaching the desired reform; and we demand that the existing law for such competitive examinations be honestly and faithfully executed and enforced.

6. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, that certain classes of citizens of the United States can be denied protection by this government on account of the country of their birth, is inhuman and unjust, and should be resisted by all proper means. Naturalized citizens are entitled to the same protection as native citizens, and it is the duty of our government to guard with jealous care the rights of citizens against the assumption of unauthorized powers by officers of foreign governments, and we urge prompt and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration.

7. The franking privilege ought to be abolished, and a way proposed for reductions in the rates of postage.

8. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognizes the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the wealth produced by the great servants of civilization.

9. We hold that Congress and the President have each duly fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in the insurrectionary districts, and for the protection of the ballot, and we [illegible] the thanks of the Nation.

10. We denounce the repudiation of public debts in any form or disguise as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

11. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom; their application for admission to further equal rights is received with satisfaction, and the honest [illegible] are treated with respectful consideration.

12. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting an entire amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

13. The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to the States respectively, as carefully as the rights granted by them to the United States Government, and to maintain the States and Territorial governments in the full exercise of all their rights.

14. It is the purpose of the Republican party to support no man for office, under the State or National Government, who is not in favor of the principles declared in these resolutions.

15. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will lead to encourage and protect American commerce and ship building.

16. We believe it is the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment practical wisdom incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.
